CTLS 2020 CONFERENCE

The Instituto Gulbenkian de Ciência is proud to organize the 4th European Core Technologies for Life Sciences conference – CTLS2020 - that will take place at the Gulbenkian Foundation in the beautiful city of Lisbon, in Portugal.

CTLS2020 aims to bring together in a stimulating environment scientists, technicians, leaders from Core Technology Facilities and Resource Labs from all fields of Life Science, who are eager to share experience and know-how.

CTLS2020 is organized as a multifaceted meeting, offering plenary sessions with satellite meetings and workshops, fostering interactions and collaborations between the scientific community and the industry.

CTLS2020 is expected to attract more than 300 participants from all fields of Life Sciences following on the success of previous editions at Institut Pasteur, Paris in 2014, at EMBL, Heidelberg in 2016 and at VIB, Ghent in 2018.

As in the previous CTLS conferences we will gather representatives of such important specialties in life science research technologies as microscopy, genomics, mass spectrometry, cell sorting, protein production and purification, structural biology, molecular biophysics, as well as people involved in Core Facilities management.

THE LOCATION

LISBON

Located at the mouth of Tagus river as it enters the Atlantic Ocean, the sunny and vibrant capital of Portugal is spread across seven hills. Full of ancient history, it offers enchanting scenes from the old labyrinthic neighborhoods where Fado may be heard at every other corner, to the newest districts rich in contemporary architecture and restaurants where one can taste the incredible Portuguese cuisine.

Founded in 1956 by the testament of Calouste Sarkis Gulbenkian, a philanthropist of Armenian origin, the Calouste Gulbenkian Foundation aims to improve the quality of life through art, charity, science and education. The building of the Museum has several auditoriums and a Temporary Exhibition Gallery, which is where the Exhibition Hall of the CTLS2020 conference will be located.
